DEREK ROBERTSON

Dr Derek Robertson retired at the end of 2013 after spending all his professional life directing the work of External Facilities. In this role, he built up brown trout and Atlantic salmon production at Buckieburn, Howietoun, Sauchieburn and Dunblane reservoir, and encouraged research with the academics in the Institute of Aquaculture. He was instrumental in developing cod farming at Machrihanish, and built up the contract research portfolio there. We wish him the best for a well deserved retirement.
